

Sphear Wireless: the new wireless in-ear headphones by Focal

In 2015 Focal launched Sphear, a pair of in-ear headphones that became a market reference for their audio quality and comfort. Always aiming higher, this year the brand unveils the wireless version: Sphear Wireless, the in-ear headphones that massively increase freedom of movement and heighten emotions!

HUNGRY FOR SOUND AND FREEDOM

Each Focal product has its own attributes. And Sphear Wireless is no exception: combining listening quality, comfort and freedom of movement. The wireless evolution of Sphear, these new in-ear headphones provide excellent tonal balance, expert treble handling and plenty of dynamics*. The sound is precise. The bass-reflex system is explosive, reproducing a controlled and realistic bass. And although they may be wireless, they will not fail to meet all your connected listening needs thanks to their aptX® compatible Bluetooth® module: simply enjoy a quality sound, wherever you want.

A CHOICE OF LISTENING MODES

Sphear Wireless has two listening modes to cater to all tastes: neutral mode, which is true to the original artistic work, and Loudness mode, which lets you adjust to noisier settings. And thanks to the ergonomic 3-button remote control, it is easy to choose and change the mode, whatever the situation.

COMFORT AND SOUND ISOLATION: TICK!

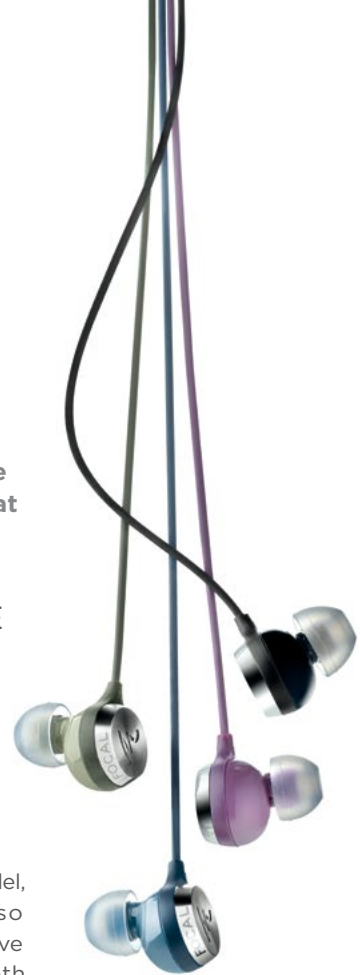

Sphear Wireless assumes the Sphear design codes, with a spherical design that facilitates long listening sessions with zero discomfort. With their innovative shape, designed by Focal engineers, the ear-buds are small, discreet and comfortable. And, to ensure they stay put in your ears and remain comfortable, there are two types of tips available: silicone or memory foam. Soft and fully insulating, they contribute to a quality listening experience.

BLACK OR BLUE? MAYBE OLIVE...OR PURPLE!

Designing a set of high-performance and comfortable in-ear headphones was already no mean feat. But why stop there, and not give them a sophisticated and modern aesthetic signature? In addition to the timeless Black model, Focal's Sphear Wireless are also available in other colours: Blue, Olive and Purple. Shades which are both soft and expressive, which add a touch of modernity to the look and give the product the signature of a leading French brand in high-fidelity products.
